A Guide to the Benefits of Trails by American Trails

"Trails drive economic success in a number of ways. When trails are brought into a community studies have shown that property values near the trail increase, businesses near trails flourish, trail tourism provides an influx of money to communities, and jobs are created due to the trails impact. More and more we are seeing individuals take outdoor recreation opportunities, largely driven by trails, into consideration when choosing where to live."

Great Backyard Bird Count

Tips From a Seasoned Birdwatcher

Photo Credit: Michael Donovan

This year February 14-17 marks the 23rd annual Great Backyard Bird Count (GBBC). During this time, participants are asked to count birds and report their sightings at birdcount.org. The results help researchers at the Cornell Lab of Ornithology and the National Audubon Society learn more about how birds are doing, and how to protect them and the environment we share.

In preparation of the event, we've gathered some insights from a seasoned birdwatcher and member of the Lycoming Audubon Society to help you participate during the GBBC!
