SEDA-COG is a publicly funded development organization based in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania and serving an 11-county region. We help the counties – and the communities and citizens within them – address challenges related to their economies and infrastructure, and we assist them in responding to new opportunities in such areas as energy, technology, market development, transportation, and locally-based resources.

State Officials Visit Region for Three Busy Days of Tours, Workshops, & Meetings

Lock Haven, Lewisburg, Sunbury, and Selinsgrove were among the region's many communities welcoming state officials and staff as part of the recent DCED on the Road/Job1st Tour. The three-day event was a combined effort of the Pennsylvania Departments of Community and Economic Development \(DCED\), and Labor & Industry. It included company tours, workshops, visits to economic and community development projects, and business roundtable meetings. SEDA-COG oversaw the event locally in our capacity as coordinator for Central Region PREP \(Partnerships for Regional Economic Performance\).

Kicking off the event, C. Alan Walker, Secretary, DCED, announced a Keystone Communities

grant of $232,000 to Lewisburg for trees, lighting, curbs, and sidewalks. Samantha Pearson, Lewisburg's Elm Street Manager, said the visit by state officials was a great opportunity to maintain an on-going dialogue. "It's important to us to be on the Secretary's radar," she said. Her comments were echoed by Natasha Gorham, Downtown Manager in Lock Haven, where DCED staff visited riverfront development and toured the central business district. State grants have been used for façade improvements in the City and, to date, seventeen façade projects have been completed, making downtown Lock Haven ".....more welcoming, more comfortable....," according to Ms. Gorham.

Sunbury's riverfront development also received a visit from state officials, including Diane McGraw, Director of
