

JS Lioness presents checks to local businesses, organizations

JERSEY SHORE — The Jersey Shore Lioness Club recently presented checks totaling $8,900 to various organizations in the area during a dinner held at the Jersey Shore Elks. Twenty-four groups were the recipients of checks ranging from $250 to $1,000 during the ceremony held earlier this month. "The Jersey Shore Area Lioness Club holds various fundraisers throughout the year and we allocate the funds to different organizations," Lioness Club Secretary Donna Maines said. Recipients included fire companies, recreational programs, scholarship funds and libraries.

PHOTO PROVIDED

Ten representatives who received checks from Lioness Club President Sue Shoemaker, are from left to right, Heather Reeder of Wise Options for Women, Bridget Kane of Susquehanna Greenway Partnership, Kathy Miller of Jersey Shore Summer Recreation, Mindee Lyon of Lyscoming County SPCA, Officer Marlin Angelo of Tiadaghton Valley Regional Police Department, Sue Shoemaker, the president of the Jersey Shore Area Lioness Club, Dave Shannon, the president and CEO, of Jersey Shore Hospital, Keith Orgitano of Waterville Fire Company, Robert Cowfer, the chief of Independent Hose Company #1 in Jersey Shore, Chad Haight, the assistant chief of Citizens Hose Company in Jersey Shore, and Mary Jane Isenberg of the Clinton County Women's Center.